

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

Justice Education Fellowship 2023-24

What is OJEN? What is the Justice Education Fellowship

The Ontario Justice Education Network \(OJEN\) invites applications from Ontario paralegal students and law school students for its Justice Education Fellowships.

OJEN is a charitable not-for-profit, non-governmental organization with a province-wide mandate. We develop innovative educational tools that introduce young people to the justice system, help them understand the law, and build their legal capability. We work to help prepare young people to manage the legal aspects of problems that arise in their own lives. Our programs are delivered across Ontario by a staff of 14 and a pool of approximately 1200 justice sector volunteers, including judges, lawyers, paralegals, police officers, and students.

OJEN's Justice Education Fellowships expand the reach of our mandate and mission and public legal education (PLEI) programs, allowing us to offer in-depth PLEI training to a select group of paralegal students and law students. This will include focused skill development in communications, community outreach, public speaking, and plain language work. Fellows then go on to deliver programs to high-school students across the province.

Here's what you need to know

Fellows will be expected to:

- Coordinate a minimum of three (3) justice education programs for youth during the Fellowship period (likely online in this case), using OJEN's program templates;
- Communicate regularly with the Fellowship supervisors;
- Participate in group check-in and/or professional development calls;
- Complete training and professional development activities as assigned, including a two-day intensive training in the summer;
- Sit on OJEN's local justice education committee if one exists in the local area; and
- Collect and report evaluation data on local justice education programs.
